MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

FUTURE STRATEGIES AND PROSPECTS

With the introduction of COVID-19 vaccines and economic recovery measures, the global market has been recovering gradually. The Group remains confident about the industry and the Group's future development. According to SEMI, the global semiconductor materials market grew by 15.9% to US$64.3 billion in revenue in 2021, surpassing the previous market high of US$55.5 billion set in 2020. The growth of the global semiconductor material market is expected to continue in 2022. Accordingly, the demand for semiconductor packaging related encapsulants is likely to increase. Particularly for China, whose economic activities are rebounding substantially due to its effective control of COVID-19 and 5G industry grows rapidly, its market needs for bonding wires and semiconductor packaging related encapsulants are expected to experience a stable growth in the coming years.

In 2022, in view of the growing demand of semiconductor materials from the emerging markets of 5G network, automotive electrification, industrial automation, internet of things and artificial intelligence, the Group will continue to put more efforts on its product development. It endeavors to develop advanced and high-quality semiconductor packaging materials to enrich the Group's product mix, so as to seize the opportunities arising from the expected market recovery and the growing market demand in 5G industry.

While the pandemic has been gradually under control, a new wave of Omicron outbreak and Russia-Ukraine war are bringing downward pressures to the global market. Amid the ongoing COVID-19 crisis, the Group expects the global macroeconomy to remain volatile in the coming year. To cope with the challenging environment, the Group will continue to carry out its proven business strategies and expand customer base by delivering high-quality and advanced products to meet their changing needs. Meanwhile, the Directors will take effective cost control measures, such as streamlining the sales process and improving production efficiency, to improve the economic efficiency of the Group and maintain its long-term development of the Group.
