[#] The ongoing charges figure is based on expenses for the period ended 31 December 2022. This figure may vary from year to year. The expenses include (without limitation) management fee and charges and payments deducted from the assets of the Sub-Fund on a periodic basis but do not include certain items such as payments to third parties regarding costs incurred in relation to the acquisition or disposal of any assets of the Sub-Fund and taxes (if applicable). From the launch of the Sub-Fund up till the financial year ended 31 December 2023, the ongoing charges figure is capped at a maximum of 0.6% of the NAV of the Sub-Fund. Any ongoing expenses of the Sub-Fund will be borne by the Manager and will not be payable by the Sub-Fund if such expense would result in the ongoing charges figure exceeding 0.6%. From the next financial year, the ongoing charges figure may be different when the expenses are payable by the Sub-Fund.

^{##} This is the actual tracking difference of the last calendar year. Investors should refer to the website of the Sub-Fund for more up-to-date information on actual tracking difference.

What is this product?

The W.I.S.E. - Nasdaq Overseas China New Economy Companies Top 50 Index Tracker (the “Sub-Fund”) is a fund constituted in the form of a unit trust and is a sub-fund under the World Index Shares ETFs, which is an umbrella unit trust established under the laws of Hong Kong. The Units of the Sub-Fund are listed on The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited (“SEHK”). The Sub-Fund is a passively managed index tracking exchange traded fund falling under Chapter 8.6 of the Code on Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds. These units are traded on the SEHK essentially like shares.

Objective and Investment StrategyObjective

The Sub-Fund is an index-tracking exchange traded fund which seeks to track the performance of the Nasdaq Overseas China New Economy Companies Top 50 IndexSM (the “Underlying Index”).

Strategy

In order to achieve the investment objective of the Sub-Fund, the Manager will adopt a representative sampling strategy for the Sub-Fund and the Sub-Fund will invest in a representative sample of the index securities of the Underlying Index (“Index Securities”). The Sub-Fund may not from time to time hold all the Index Securities and the Sub-Fund may not invest in an Index Security in the same weighting as such Index Security has in the Underlying Index. In addition, the Sub-Fund may have holding of Securities which are non-constituent stocks from time to time in circumstances which are independent of the Manager, including where trading in a constituent security has been suspended, such holding results from a corporate action of a constituent security, or the portfolio is being rebalanced in anticipation or response to a rebalance of the Underlying Index. The Manager may overweight certain constituent security relative to the relevant constituent securities’ respective weightings in the Underlying Index on the condition that the maximum extra weighting in any constituent security of the Underlying Index will not exceed four per cent (4%) under normal circumstances. The Sub-Fund has no intention to invest in structured products or financial derivatives instruments.

The Manager currently does not intend to engage in any securities lending activities or repurchase transactions or reverse repurchase agreements or other similar over the counter transactions. One month’s prior notice will be given to Unitholders in the event the Manager intends to engage in such activities.

Underlying Index

The Underlying Index is a modified market capitalization weighted index which is designed to capture the new drivers of the China Economy by measuring the performance of the 50 largest companies from China in certain sectors. It is a net total return index (Nasdaq: NQCNNEWHKDN).

It was launched on 12 March 2018. It is denominated in HKD and consists of largest 50 constituent securities listed on Nasdaq, The New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), NYSE American or the Chicago Board Options Exchange (CBOE), or be a component of the Nasdaq Global Index (NQGI) and listed on the SEHK including but not limited to equity securities trading in the U.S. through American Depositary Receipts (“ADRs”). The Underlying Index does not have A shares. As at 11 April 2023, it has a total market capitalization of around HKD15,224.04 billion. The base date is 12 March 2018 and the base value is 1,000.00. Please refer to Appendix I of the Prospectus on the detailed selection methodology of the Underlying Index. The Underlying Index is compiled and developed, calculated and maintained by Nasdaq, Inc. or its affiliates (the “Index Provider”). The Manager (and each of its Connected Persons) is independent of Nasdaq.

The list of constituent stocks of the Underlying Index with their respective weightings are available on the website of the Index Provider (<https://business.nasdaq.com/intel/indexes/research/nasdaq-global-index-policies/index.html>). Investors should note that the list of constituent stocks of the Underlying Index may be updated from time to time.

For further information relating to the Underlying Index, please refer to the index website at <https://indexes.nasdaqomx.com/Index/Overview/NQCNNEW>.

Use of derivatives / investment in derivatives

The Sub-Fund will not use derivatives for any purposes.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please also refer to the Prospectus for details including the risk factors.

1. General investment risk – The Sub-Fund's investment portfolio may fall in value due to any of the key risk factors below and therefore your investment in the Sub-Fund may suffer losses. There is no guarantee in respect of repayment of principal.
2. Currency risk – Certain investments of the Sub-Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Sub-Fund. The NAV of the Sub-Fund may be affected unfavorably by fluctuations in the exchange rates between these currencies and the base currency and by changes in exchange rate controls.
3. Concentration / PRC market risk / emerging market risk
 - Exposure of the Sub-Fund is concentrated in securities which are classified as Consumer Staples, Consumer Discretionary, Health Care or Technology according to the Industry Classification Benchmark (ICB) and relate to China economy. Such companies may depend heavily on the performance of those specific industries and may have substantial exposure to the risks in the PRC market. As a result, the value of the Sub-Fund may be more volatile than that of a fund having a more diverse portfolio of investments.
 - The value of the Sub-Fund may be more susceptible to adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory event affecting the PRC market.
 - The Sub-Fund invests in an emerging market / the PRC market, which may involve increased risks and special considerations not typically associated with investment in more developed markets, such as liquidity risks, currency risks/control, settlement risks, custody risk and the likelihood of a high degree of volatility.
4. Passive investment risk – The Sub-Fund is passively managed. Due to the inherent nature of the Sub-Fund, the Manager will not have the discretion to adapt to market changes and may not take an active role in defending the position of the Sub-Fund in declining markets. Hence, any fall in the Underlying Index will result in a corresponding fall in the value of the Sub-Fund.
5. Tracking error risk – The Sub-Fund may be subject to tracking error risk, which is the risk that its performance may not track that of the Underlying Index exactly. This tracking error may result from the investment strategy used, and fees and expenses. The Manager will monitor and seek to manage such risk in minimising tracking error. There can be no assurance of exact or identical replication at any time of the performance of the Underlying Index.
6. Trading risk
 - The trading price of the Units on the SEHK is driven not only by the NAV of the Sub-Fund but also by other market factors such as the supply of and demand for the Units in the SEHK. Therefore, the Units may trade at a substantial premium or discount to the Sub-Fund's NAV.
 - As investor will pay certain charges (e.g. trading fees and brokerage fees) to buy or sell Units on the SEHK, investors may pay more than the NAV per Unit when buying Units on the SEHK, and may receive less than the NAV per Unit when selling Units on the SEHK.

7. ADRs risk

- ADRs involve risks similar to those associated with investments in foreign securities, such as changes in political or economic conditions of other countries and changes in the exchange rates of foreign currencies. ADRs listed on U.S. exchanges are issued by banks or trust companies, and entitle the holder to all dividends and capital gains that are paid out on the underlying foreign shares.
- Investments in ADRs may be subject to withholding or other taxes and may be indirectly subject to additional trading, settlement, custodial, and operational risks. These and other factors can make investments in the Sub-Fund more volatile and potentially less liquid than other types of investments.

8. Trading differences risks – The Sub-Fund will invest in US-listed Securities. As the US stock markets may be open when Units in the Sub-Fund are not priced, the value of the US Securities may change on days when investors will not be able to trade the Sub-Fund's Units. Due to differences in trading hours between the SEHK and the US stock exchanges, market prices of index constituents listed on US stock exchanges and at the Underlying Index level may not be available during certain periods when the SEHK is open for trading, and the value of the constituents will change during such hours when the SEHK is closed for trading and investors will not be able to purchase or sell the Units of the Sub-Fund during such hours. This may result in deviations of the Sub-Fund's trading price from its Net Asset Value and may increase the level of premium/discount of the price of units of the Sub-Fund to its Net Asset Value.

9. Equity market risk – The Sub-Fund's investment in equity securities is subject to general market risks, whose value may fluctuate due to various factors, such as changes in investment sentiment, political and economic conditions and issuer-specific factors.

10. Termination risk – The Sub-Fund may be terminated under certain circumstances, for example, where the Underlying Index is no longer available for benchmarking or if at any time one year after the establishment of the Sub-Fund the size of the Sub-Fund falls below HK$100,000,000. Investors may not be able to recover their investments and suffer a loss when the Sub-Fund is terminated.

11. Reliance on market maker risks – Although the Manager will ensure that at least one market maker will maintain a market for the Units and that at least one market maker gives not less than 3 months' notice prior to terminating market making arrangement under the relevant market maker agreement, liquidity in the market for the units may be adversely affected if there is no or only one market maker for the Units. There is also no guarantee that any market making activity will be effective.

12. Risk in relation to distribution – Payment of distributions out of capital and/or effectively out of capital amounts to a return or withdrawal of part of an investor's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investments. Any such distributions may result in an immediate reduction of the NAV per Unit.

How has the fund performed?

- Past performance information is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.
- The computation basis of the performance is based on the calendar year end, NAV-to-NAV, with distributions reinvested.
- These figures show by how much the Sub-Fund increased or decreased in value during the calendar year being shown. Performance data has been calculated in HKD including ongoing charges and excluding your trading costs on the SEHK.
- Where no past performance is shown there was insufficient data available in that year to provide performance
- The Sub-Fund was launched in 2018.

Is there any guarantee?

The Sub-Fund does not provide any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.
